

Use Transitions in your Writing!

-Use when you switch ideas in your story!

To show time:		To add information:	To compare and contrast:
First, Second, Next, Then, Now, Later, Sooner or later, First of all, All of a sudden,	After that, Immediately, In the meantime, Until then, About that time, Soon, First off, Meanwhile, As soon as _____, In the middle _____, After awhile, To begin with, To start off,	Besides, In addition, Furthermore, Equally important _____, Another thought _____, Considering, For example, Also, Plus, After, Again,	Similarly, Otherwise, However, On the other hand, In the same way, *Either _____ or _____, *Neither _____ nor _____. Even though,
To summarize or conclude:		To clarify:		To show location:
To conclude, To wrap it all up, All in all, Last but not least, At last,		During _____, Earlier _____, Before _____, Last, Lastly, Finally,	In other words, As a result, In short, To put it another way, Putting it simply,	Above _____, Amid _____, Beyond _____, Next to _____, Over _____, Beneath _____, In back of _____, In front of _____, Under _____, On top of _____,

